MILLER THOMSON PRESENTERS

AARON E. ATCHESON

Mr. Atcheson is a Partner in Miller Thomson's London, Ontario office practising in the areas of commercial real estate and environmental law, with an emphasis on business transactions and clean energy projects. As the national leader of Miller Thomson LLP's CleanTech Group, Aaron recently worked to ensure that Ontario's Green Energy Act incorporated amendments to make the regulatory process less difficult for developers of renewable energy projects to test and gather the data necessary to secure renewable energy approvals for new projects. This summer and fall, Aaron applied his alternative energy transaction expertise to represent Wasatch Wind Inc. in the sale of the world's largest offshore wind prospect.

TERESA L. MEADOWS

With more than 25 years of experience in Alberta's environmental regulatory field, Ms. Meadows heads up the Alberta contingent of Miller Thomson's National Environmental Law Group. She routinely provides advice to public and private sector clients on the challenges and opportunities presented by environmental regulation including successfully navigating environmental approval processes, responding to environmental enforcement, engaging in carbon trading, green building, alternative energy development, sustainable reporting and investment, and undertaking brownfields redevelopment.
