

YOU ARE INVITED TO A COMPLIMENTARY BREAKFAST SEMINAR

HOSTED BY MILLER THOMSON LLP

CAPTURING OPPORTUNITY: EMERGING DEVELOPMENTS IN CLIMATE CHANGE LAW AND POLICY FOR ALBERTA BUSINESS

SEMINAR OVERVIEW

As the first Province to introduce climate change legislation, Alberta has several years of experience implementing made-in-Alberta law and policy designed to limit carbon emissions. A significant component of Alberta's approach has been regulating and funding carbon capture and sequestration ("CCS") projects and introducing a carbon trading system. This seminar provides you with an update on the development of Alberta's initial CCS projects from the perspective of ICO2N (the Integrated CO2 Network), whose members actively promoted an integrated CCS system for Canada. We also present lessons learned from Alberta businesses active in carbon trading and a quick overview of recent developments in British Columbia which may affect businesses in Alberta.

WHAT WILL BE DISCUSSED

- Developments in Carbon Capture and Storage
- Lessons Learned From Participants in Alberta's Carbon "Market"
- Trading and Taxes: Developments in B.C. Affecting Alberta Business

MILLER THOMSON LLP'S CLIMATE CHANGE INITIATIVE

The lawyers contributing to Miller Thomson's Climate Change Initiative draw on a broad range of experience from across Canada to provide our clients with access to the legal advice needed to manage the risks and opportunities presented by climate change law and policy. Whether the question relates to corporate disclosure, carbon trading, regulatory compliance, accessing "low-carbon" capital, procuring and marketing low-carbon products and services, or the like, the expertise of our lawyers yields practical, cost-effective and integrated solutions.

OPENING REMARKS BY DAVID SEVALRUD, MILLER THOMSON LLP (CALGARY)

PRESENTERS

ROBERT CRAIG, INTEGRATED CO2 NETWORK

Robert has undertaken progressively challenging roles in the carbon management and energy industries for twenty years. As Director of Strategy and Technology for the Integrated CO2 Network (ICO2N) Robert lead ICO2N's efforts to evaluate capture technologies, assess efficient transportation and enhanced oil recovery development and advance carbon capture and storage (CCS) regulation. In April 2010 the Petroleum Technology Alliance of Canada awarded him with the Exceptional Leadership and Contribution Award for his work on CCS as Chair of the Alberta CO2 Purity Project. Robert has degrees in Economics and Political Science, and is a principal in Sage Creek Consulting.

TONY CROSSMAN, MILLER THOMSON LLP (VANCOUVER)

Recognized as a leading environmental practitioner in Canada, Tony Crossman is the Chair of Miller Thomson's National Environmental Law Group and a key member of Miller Thomson's Climate Change Initiative. Tony has spoken and written extensively on the law of climate change at both the federal and provincial levels, including co-authoring a chapter on climate change law and policy in British Columbia in the first in-depth climate change legal resource to be published in Canada, "The Law of Climate Change in Canada". Based in Vancouver, he advises on all aspects of environmental law issues - from corporate compliance and due diligence to civil and criminal litigation matters.

TERESA MEADOWS, MILLER THOMSON LLP (EDMONTON)

Spearheading Miller Thomson's Climate Change Initiative, Teresa provides advice on the risks and opportunities presented by environmental regulation, including carbon trading, green building, alternative energy development, sustainable reporting and investment and brownfields redevelopment. She speaks frequently and often contributes to publications on environmental law topics. Teresa also recently co-authored a chapter on climate change in Alberta for the text, "The Law of Climate Change in Canada".
